ANSWERS

1. Section 39 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872 provides that when a party to a contract has refused to perform or disabled himself from performing his promise in its entirety, the promisee may put an end to the contract unless he had signified, by words or conduct his acquiescence in its continuance. Further, in terms of Section 40, the promisee shall be required to perform personally, if there is such an apparent intention of the parties.
- Also, as per Section 75 of the Act, a person who rightfully rescinds a contract is entitled to compensation for any damage which he has sustained through non-fulfilment of the contract.
- Therefore, in the instant case,
- (i) Since, Shital could not perform as per the terms of contract, Sharad Vidya Mandir can terminate the contract.

- (ii) In the second situation, the management of Sharad Vidya Mandir informed Shital about the continuance of the contract. Hence, the management cannot rescind the contract after a month on this ground subsequently.
- (iii) As per Section 75, Sharad Vidya Mandir can claim damages that it has suffered because of this breach in part (i).

2. A contract made with or by a minor is void ab-initio: Pursuant to Section 11 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, a minor is not competent to contract and any agreement with or by a minor is void from the very beginning.

- (i) By following the above provision, Mr. Mittal will not succeed in recovering the outstanding amount by filing a case against Paridhee, a minor.
- (ii) Minor cannot bind parent or guardian: In the absence of authority, express or implied, a minor is not capable of binding his parent or guardian, even for necessities. The parents will be held liable only when the child is acting as an agent for parents.

In the instant case, Mr. Mittal will not succeed in recovering the outstanding amount by filing a case against Mr. Ram, father of Paridhee.

- (iii) No ratification after attaining majority: A minor cannot ratify the agreement on attaining majority as the original agreement is void ab initio and a void agreement can never be ratified.

Hence, in this case also, Mr. Mittal will not succeed in recovering the outstanding amount by filing a case against Paridhee, after she attains majority.

3. Responsibility of finder of goods (Section 71 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872): A person who find goods belonging to another and takes them into his custody is subject to same responsibility as if he were a bailee.

Thus, a finder of lost goods has:

- (i) to take proper care of the property as man of ordinary prudence would take
- (ii) no right to appropriate the goods and
- (iii) to restore the goods if the owner is found.

In the light of the above provisions, the manager must return the wallet to Rohan, since Rohan is entitled to retain the wallet found against everybody except the true owner.

4. Appropriation of Payments: In case where a debtor owes several debts to the same creditor and makes payment, which is not sufficient to discharge all the debts, the payment shall be appropriated (i.e. adjusted against the debts) as per the provisions of Section 59 to 61 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872.

- (i) As per the provisions of 59 of the Act, where a debtor owing several distinct debts to one person, makes a payment to him either with express intimation or under circumstances implying that the payment is to be applied to the discharge of some particular debt, the payment, if accepted, must be applied accordingly.

Therefore, the contention of Mr. Mukesh is correct, and he can specify the manner of appropriation of repayment of debt.

- (ii) As per the provisions of 60 of the Act, where the debtor has omitted to intimate and there are no other circumstances indicating to which debt the payment is to be applied, the creditor may apply it at his discretion to any lawful debt actually due and payable to him from the debtor, where its recovery is or is not barred by the law in force for the time being as to the limitation of suits.

Hence in case Mr. Mukesh fails to specify the manner of appropriation of debt on part repayment, Mr. Sohan the creditor, can appropriate the payment as per his choice.

- (iii) As per the provisions of 61 of the Act, where neither party makes any appropriation, the payment shall be applied in discharge of the debts in order of time, whether they are or are not barred by the law in force for the time being as to the limitation of suits. If the debts are of equal standing, the payments shall be applied in discharge of each proportionately.

Hence in case where neither Mr. Mukesh nor Mr. Sohan specifies the manner of appropriation of debt on part repayment, the appropriation can be made in proportion of debts.

5. (i) The given agreement is valid.

Reason: An agreement in restraint of legal proceeding is the one by which any party thereto is restricted absolutely from enforcing his rights under a contract through a Court (Section 28 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872). A contract of this nature is void. However, in the given statement, no absolute restriction is marked on parties on filing of suit. As per the agreement, suit may be filed in one of the courts having jurisdiction.

(ii) The said agreement is void.

Reason: This agreement is void as the two parties are thinking about different subject matters so that there is no real consent, and the agreement may be treated as void because of mistake of fact as well as absence of consensus.

(iii) The said agreement is valid.

Reason: An agreement by which any person is restrained from exercising a lawful profession, trade or business of any kind, is to that extent void (Section 27). But, as an exception, agreement of service by which an employee binds himself, during the term of his agreement, not to compete with his employer is not in restraint of trade.

6. According to Section 27 of Indian Contract Act, 1872 an agreement by which any person is restrained from exercising a lawful profession, trade or business of any kind, is to that extent void.

In the instant case, Mr. Seth is in litigation with Mr. Raman since long. Mr. Seth enlists the services of Mr. X a legal expert stating that an amount of ₹ 5 lakhs would be paid, if Mr. X does not take up the case of Mr. Raman. Mr. X agrees, but at the end of the litigation, Mr. Seth refused to pay.

As section 27 makes the contracts in restraint of trade, void, the contract between Mr. Seth and Mr. X is also void. Hence, Mr. X cannot recover the amount promised by Mr. Seth.

7. (i) Goods perishing before making of Contract (Section 7 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930): In accordance with the provisions of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930 as contained in Section 7, a contract for the sale of specific goods is void, if at the time when the contract was made; the goods without the knowledge of the seller, perished or become so damaged as no longer to answer to their description in the contract, then the contract is void ab initio.
- (ii) Goods perishing before sale but after agreement to sell (Section 8 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930): Where there is an agreement to sell specific goods, and subsequently the goods without any fault on the part of the seller or buyer perish or become so damaged as no longer to answer to their description in the agreement before the risk passes to the buyer, the agreement is thereby avoided or becomes void.
8. (i) Sale by sample [Section 17 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930]: In a contract of sale by sample, there is an implied condition that
- (a) the bulk shall correspond with the sample in quality;
 - (b) the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample,
 - (c) the goods shall be free from any defect rendering them un-merchantable, which would not be apparent on reasonable examination of the sample. This condition is applicable only with regard to defects, which could not be discovered by an ordinary examination of the goods. If the defects are latent, then the buyer can avoid the contract. This simply means that the goods shall be free from any latent defect i.e. a hidden defect.
- (ii) The following are the implied warranties operative under the Act:
1. Warranty as to undisturbed possession [Section 14(b)]: An implied warranty that the buyer shall have and enjoy quiet possession of the goods. That is to say, if the buyer having got possession of the goods, is later on disturbed in his possession, he is entitled to sue the seller for the breach of the warranty.

2. Warranty as to non-existence of encumbrances [Section 14(c)]: An implied warranty that the goods shall be free from any charge or encumbrance in favour of any third party not declared or known to the buyer before or at the time the contract is entered into.
3. Warranty as to quality or fitness by usage of trade [Section 16(3)]: An implied warranty as to quality or fitness for a particular purpose may be annexed or attached by the usage of trade.

Regarding implied condition or warranty as to the quality or fitness for any particular purpose of goods supplied, the rule is 'let the buyer beware' i.e., the seller is under no duty to reveal unflattering truths about the goods sold, but this rule has certain exceptions.

4. Disclosure of dangerous nature of goods: Where the goods are dangerous in nature and the buyer is ignorant of the danger, the seller must warn the buyer of the probable danger. If there is a breach of warranty, the seller may be liable in damages.
9. As per Section 4(3) of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, where under a contract of sale, the property in the goods is transferred from the seller to the buyer, the contract is called a sale, but where the transfer of the property in the goods is to take place at a future time or subject to some condition thereafter to be fulfilled, the contract is called an agreement to sell and as per Section 4(4), an agreement to sell becomes a sale when the time elapses or the conditions are fulfilled subject to which the property in the goods is to be transferred.
- (i) On the basis of above provisions and facts given in the question, it can be said that there is an agreement to sell between Shubhangi and Jeweller and not a sale. Even though the payment was made by Shubhangi, the property in goods can be transferred only after the fulfilment of conditions fixed between the buyer and the seller. As due to Sapphire Stones, the original design is disturbed, necklace is not in original position. Hence, Shubhangi has right to avoid the agreement to sell and can recover the price paid.
 - (ii) If Jeweller offers to bring the necklace in original position by repairing, he cannot charge extra cost from Shubhangi. Even though he has to bear some expenses for repair; he cannot charge it from Shubhangi.
10. Sale of unascertained goods and Appropriation (Section 23 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930): Appropriation of goods involves selection of goods with the intention of using them in performance of the contract and with the mutual consent of the seller and the buyer.
- The essentials are:
- (a) There is a contract for the sale of unascertained or future goods.
 - (b) The goods should conform to the description and quality stated in the contract.

- (c) The goods must be in a deliverable state.
 - (d) The goods must be unconditionally appropriated to the contract either by delivery to the buyer or his agent or the carrier.
 - (e) The appropriation must be made by:
 - (i) the seller with the assent of the buyer; or
 - (ii) the buyer with the assent of the seller.
 - (f) The assent may be express or implied.
 - (g) The assent may be given either before or after appropriation.
11. (i) As per the provisions of Sub-Section (2) of Section 17 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930, in a contract of sale by sample, there is an implied condition that:
- (a) the bulk shall correspond with the sample in quality;
 - (b) the buyer shall have a reasonable opportunity of comparing the bulk with the sample.

In the instant case, in the light of the provisions of Sub-Clause (b) of Sub-Section (2) of Section 17 of the Act, Mrs. Kanchan will not be successful as she casually examined the sample of rice (which exactly corresponded to the entire lot) without noticing the fact that even though the sample was that of Basmati Rice but it contained a mix of long and short grains.

- (ii) In the instant case, Mrs. Kanchan does not have any option available to her for grievance redressal.
 - (iii) In case Mrs. Kanchan specified her exact requirement as to length of rice, then there is an implied condition that the goods shall correspond with the description. If it is not so, the seller will be held liable.
12. Right of stoppage in transit (Section 50 of the Sale of Goods Act, 1930):

Subject to the provisions of this Act, when the buyer of goods becomes insolvent, the unpaid seller who has parted with the possession of the goods has the right of stopping them in transit, that is to say, he may resume possession of the goods as long as they are in the course of transit and may retain them until paid or tendered price of the goods.

When the unpaid seller has parted with the goods to a carrier and the buyer has become insolvent, he can exercise this right of asking the carrier to return the goods back, or not to deliver the goods to the buyer.

In the instant case, Tushar, the buyer becomes insolvent, and 450 bags are in transit. Ravi, the seller, can stop the goods in transit by giving a notice of it to Tushar. The official receiver, on Tushar's insolvency cannot claim the bags.

13. (i) Partnership for a fixed period (Indian Partnership Act, 1932): Where a provision is made by a contract for the duration of the partnership, the partnership is called 'partnership for a fixed period'. It is a partnership created for a particular period of time. Such a partnership comes to an end on the expiry of the fixed period.
- (ii) Revocation of continuing guarantee (Section 38 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932): According to section 38, a continuing guarantee given to a firm or to third party in respect of the transaction of a firm is, in the absence of an agreement to the contrary, revoked as to future transactions from the date of any change in the constitution of the firm. Such change may occur by the death, or retirement of a partner, or by introduction of a new partner.
- (iii) Goodwill: The term "Goodwill" has not been defined under the Indian Partnership Act, 1932. Section 14 of the Act lays down that goodwill of a business is to be regarded as a property of the firm.
- Goodwill may be defined as the value of the reputation of a business in respect of profits expected in future over and above the normal level of profits earned by undertaking belonging to the same class of business.
14. (i) Introduction of a Partner (Section 31 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932): Subject to contract between the partners and to the provisions of Section 30, no person shall be introduced as a partner into a firm without the consent of all the existing partners.
- In the instant case, Mr. Vikas can be introduced as a partner with the consent of Mr. B and Mr. C, the existing partners.
- (ii) Rights of Transferee of a Partner's interest (Section 29): A transfer by a partner of his interest in the firm, either absolute or by mortgage, or by the creation by him of a charge on such interest, does not entitle the transferee, during the continuance of the firm, to interfere in the conduct of business, or to require accounts, or to inspect the books of the firm, but entitles the transferee only to receive the share of profits of the transferring partner, and the transferee shall accept the account of profits agreed to by the partners.
- Hence, here Mr. Vikas, the transferee in M/S ABC Associates, cannot inspect the books of the firm and the contention of the other partners is right that Mr. Vikas cannot challenge the books of accounts.
15. Effects of insolvency of a partner (Section 34 of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932):
- (i) The insolvent partner cannot be continued as a partner.
- (ii) He will be ceased to be a partner from the very date on which the order of adjudication is made.
- (iii) The estate of the insolvent partner is not liable for the acts of the firm done after the date of order of adjudication.

- (iv) The firm is also not liable for any act of the insolvent partner after the date of the order of adjudication,
- (v) Ordinarily, the insolvency of a partner results in dissolution of a firm; but the partners are competent to agree among themselves that the adjudication of a partner as an insolvent will not give rise to dissolution of the firm.

- 16. As per the provisions of Section 30(5) of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932, at any time within six months of his attaining majority, or of his obtaining knowledge that he had been admitted to the benefits of partnership, whichever date is later, such person may give public notice that he has elected to become or that he has elected not to become a partner in the firm, and such notice shall determine his position as regards the firm.

However, if he fails to give such notice, he shall become a partner in the firm on the expiry of the said six months.

If the minor becomes a partner by his failure to give the public notice within specified time, his rights and liabilities as given in Section 30(7) are as follows:

- (A) He becomes personally liable to third parties for all acts of the firm done since he was admitted to the benefits of partnership.
 - (B) His share in the property and the profits of the firm remains the same to which he was entitled as a minor.
 - (i) In the instant case, since, X has failed to give a public notice, he shall become a partner in the M/s ABC & Co. and becomes personally liable to Mr. L, a third party.
 - (ii) In the light of the provisions of Section 30(7) read with Section 30(5) of the Indian Partnership Act, 1932, since X has failed to give public notice that he has not elected to not to become a partner within six months, he will be deemed to be a partner after the period of the above six months and therefore, Mr. L can recover his debt from him also in the same way as he can recover from any other partner.
- 17. (i) Yes, this is a case of partnership because there is an agreement between two firms to combine into one firm.
- (ii) Yes, this is a case of partnership because A & B, co-owners, have agreed to conduct a business in common for profit.
- (iii) No, this is not a case of partnership as no charitable association can be floated in partnership.
- (iv) No, this is not a case of partnership as they are co-owners and not the partners. Further, there exist no business.

- (ii) exercises or controls more than one-half of the total voting power either at its own or together with one or more of its subsidiary companies:

For the purposes of this section —

- (I) a company shall be deemed to be a subsidiary company of the holding company even if the control referred to in sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii) is of another subsidiary company of the holding company;
- (II) “layer” in relation to a holding company means its subsidiary or subsidiaries.

In the instant case, BC Private Limited together with its subsidiary KL Private Limited is holding 1,60,000 shares (90,000+70,000 respectively) which is more than one half in nominal value of the Equity Share Capital of PQ Private Limited. Hence, PQ Private Limited is subsidiary of BC Private Limited.

- (ii) In the second case, the answer will remain the same. KL Private Limited is a holding 1,60,000 shares i.e., more than one half in nominal value of the Equity Share Capital of PQ Private Limited (i.e., holding more than one half of voting power). Hence, KL Private Limited is holding company of PQ Private Company and BC Private Limited is a holding company of KL Private Limited.

Hence, by virtue of Chain relationship, BC Private Limited becomes the holding company of PQ Private Limited.

20. According to the provisions of Section 2(45) of Companies Act, 2013, Government Company means any company in which not less than 51% of the paid-up share capital is held by-

Chapter-4 Comprehension Passages

Read the following passages carefully and answer the questions that follow:

Passage-1

When the bamboo flowers- famine, death and destruction will soon follow, goes a traditional saying in Mizoram, the tiny hill state in North East India. Who better than the hardy inhabitants would know this, considering that theirs is probably the only land on earth where history is closely intertwined with the mysterious cycle of bamboo flowering. Back in 1959, bamboo flowering in the state set off a chain of events in the rugged hilly state that ultimately led to one of the most powerful insurgencies against the Indian union spanning over two decades.

Folklore apart, scientists say that the strange phenomena of bamboo flowering, is called 'gregarious bamboo flowering' because the bamboo flowers, all at the same time, only once in the plant's lifetime. It wreaks ecological havoc because the bamboo plants die after flowering. It will be atleast some years before those plants take seed again, leaving bare exposed soil— which could be disastrous in mountainous states and also leading to food scarcity, since animals depend on bamboo plants. The second factor is that rats feed on the flowers and seeds of the dying bamboo tree. This activates a rapid birth rate among the rodents, which leads to the huge rat population feeding on cultural crops in the fields and on granaries and causes famine.

Now the bamboo is going to flower again within the next four to five years, as per the experts. And this time it is going to be not just in Mizoram, but in the huge bamboo forested areas across the other North Eastern states of Tripura, Manipur and southern Assam, an occurrence that has attracted national and international attention as well as the concern of the authorities. A thriving economy revolves around bamboo. The pulp and paper industry, construction, cottage industry and handloom, food, fuel, fodder and medicine annually consume about 22 million tons of bamboo.

While there seems to be a consensus among the experts that the resources should be used before they become worthless, the problem is how to do that. What would happen to common rural north easterners who depend on bamboo for almost everything—from raw material to build their homes to food and as one of the few sources of cash.

Questions

1. Why is bamboo flowering considered to be a strange phenomenon?
2. How do rodents act as a cause of famine?
3. Name the industries that depend on bamboo as a resource.
4. Find a word from the passage that means the same as 'in abundance'
 - (a) Wreaks
 - (b) Thriving
 - (c) Gregarious
 - (d) Easterners
5. Choose the synonym of the word 'sturdy' as used in the passage.
 - (a) Havoc
 - (b) Hardy
 - (c) Rugged
 - (d) insurgencies

Passage-2

Hiking is a great source of pleasure and happiness to humans besides being something helpful and beneficial for health. Once we leave the crowded streets of a city and go out for walking or somewhere away from the chaotic world, our mind feels free. The open air has a bracing effect on the mind. The congestion of the city, the world, the uproar and the tumult, the daily and may be monotonous routine are forgotten and our mind feels relaxed and calm. That moment is one of happiness; laughter; jumping, dancing and embracing ourselves.

Hiking takes us in the midst of nature. The wonderful waterfalls, flowers, the brooks, the birds, the bushes all appear to be enticing and pleasing. A connect is established between us and nature. Various sounds of nature, like the sound of the gushing river, or the chirping of birds acquires a new meaning and we start loving life. We enjoy the beauty of nature. We have no fears, no worries, no stress and no anxieties. We have leisure to stand, to walk, to talk, to observe nature. It is more thrilling and pleasurable to hike in the mountains than in plains. The excitement of climbing up to the top of a hill, the adventure of coming down a slope, the grandeur of sunset behind a mountain—all these add beauty and charm to our hiking journey.

Hiking is one the healthiest sports. It ensures a complete escape from the urgent and busy activities of life and therefore gives solace to our mind and brain. It regains its lost energy and is able to do twice as much work as before. Hence, it could be said that, if our mind is free, its productivity increases. The nature and its elements make one's mind and soul at peace. Hiking is unique in that it can help patients meet guidelines for regular physical activity and concurrently tap the significant health benefits that may be attained by spending time in natural settings. Hiking can be considered accessible in terms of the limited skills and equipment needed, as well as the ability for individuals to pick the terrain difficulty and the speed at which they walk.

Hiking is also an opportunity to hone new skills, or the nervous system's ability to accommodate new demands and information. On a hike, you can further exercise your brain by learning to use a compass. Or, after you feel prepared fitness-wise, you could plan an overnight backpacking trip, which requires you to hone a whole new set of skills, like pitching a tent, filtering water, cooking on a camp stove, and mastering a bear bag hang, just to name a few. Hence, we all must try to go for hiking once, atleast when our minds needs a break!

1. Why is it more thrilling to hike in the mountains than in the plains?
2. Why is Hiking considered to be unique sport by the author?
3. Select the option which means same as 'monotonous' as used in the passage;
 - (a) Important
 - (b) Rare
 - (c) Repetitive
4. What new skills can one learn while hiking?
5. Select the word that can appropriately replace the word 'grandeur' as used in the passage:
 - (a) Splendour
 - (b) Spendthrift
 - (c) Serene
 - (d) Serendipity

Passage-1

The Aztecs were the last group of native people whose civilization dominated the Valley of Mexico. The Valley of Mexico is located in central Mexico where the country narrows as the land between the Gulf of Mexico on the east and the Pacific Ocean on the west narrows. The Valley of Mexico is a high plateau, around 7,000 feet above sea level, surrounded by volcanic mountains. The first people to influence culture in the Valley of Mexico were the Olmecs whose civilization began around 1200 BCE in the jungles of eastern Mexico. The Olmecs are known for their finely crafted artwork, especially giant heads that are 10 feet tall. The Olmecs invented a system of writing and were well-versed in astronomy and mathematics. As their culture evolved, it spread to the Valley of Mexico even if they didn't officially rule the area.

Somewhere at the very beginning of the Common Era, native people built a city from stone called Teotihuacan in the Valley of Mexico. The name Teotihuacan means "Place of the Gods" and the city contained religious pyramids that were constructed by 200 CE. Scholars believe that Teotihuacan was the 6th largest city in the world when it was flourishing. After about 200 years, the great city declined from famine and revolts.

The Toltecs, who also built pyramids, controlled the Valley of Mexico from about 1000 to 1200 CE. Their capital city was Tula which was attacked and destroyed around 1200 CE. Meanwhile the Mesheeca or Mexica people, later called Aztecs by the Spanish, lived as nomads throughout central Mexico, without a home territory, but seeking a land for themselves. The Aztecs finally settled on swampy island in Lake Tecoco in the Valley of Mexico around 1325 CE.

The Aztec people named their settlement Tenochtitlan. The Aztecs converted their swampland to fertile crop fields and the people developed skilled crafts. They began trading food and goods with neighboring tribes. Over the years Tenochtitlan became a city and the Aztecs spread to other islands. The nobles and rulers of Aztec society began to intermarry with the royal families of neighboring tribes and eventually ruling their territory. By 1500 CE the Aztec Empire controlled the entire Valley of Mexico, only to be destroyed by Spanish conquerors under Cortez beginning in 1519.

Bharat is a contiguous land with a common civilization identity for many millennia. Pre-independence India, on the other hand, consisted of territories that were administered by more than 560 princely states and several colonial powers. The first half of 1947 was a crucial period in India's history. The end of colonial rule was certain and so was India's partition, but there was no clarity on the political integration of the territories under the princely states. The partition of the country into the dominions of India and Pakistan raised the important question of peacefully merging the princely states which were as diverse as they could be in size, population, terrain or economic situation.

Here comes the role of Sardar Vallabhai Patel. The full name of Vallabhbhai Patel was Vallabhbhai Jhaverbhai Patel and very famously called Sardar Patel. Sardar was his name in India and everywhere else, the word is popular in Hindi, Urdu and Persian languages which also means 'chief'. He is an Indian barrister who also contributed majorly to Indian Independence as a senior leader of the Indian National Congress party. During the Indo-Pak war in 1947, his role as Home Minister was vital as during the struggle, he guided the independent nation to unity through integration. He truly was at the helm of integrating and merging the British provinces that were allotted to India with the new Independent India, leading the task of forging a united front. Therefore, the challenge in front of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel was not an easy one. As the architect of Ek Bharat, the Iron Man understood the ground realities and took up the mammoth task of unifying the princely states. This set the seeds for building a modern nation state - merging India's political boundaries with our civilisational boundaries to the extent possible. Sardar Patel understood the importance of uniting the country and highlighted the fact that without unity it will be impossible to have a sustainable state.

Since 2014, India has been celebrating the birthday of Sardar Patel as National Unity Day, i.e 31st October. This day not only recognises his monumental contribution and service to the nation but also engages with his legacy.

Chapter-7 Précis Writing

Write a précis and give an appropriate title to the passage given below.

1. Global climate change due to excessive fossil fuel combustion, the fluctuating oil prices, geopolitical tensions and growth in energy demand urges immediate measures to be taken in order to limit global energy crisis and green house gas emission in the environment.

Current and future markets in fossil fuels are subject to volatile price changes in oil and natural gas. National and international energy and environmental crisis is motivating to think about renewable energy resources, especially solar energy. Solar energy is the most ancient source, and it is the root material for almost all fossil and renewable types. Special devices have been used for benefiting from the solar energy since time immemorial and such applications actually date back to before Christ. Energy is a continuous driving power for the social and technological prospective developments. Energy sources are vital and essential ingredients for all human transactions and without these sources, human activities of all kinds will not be progressive at all. Since the energy crisis in 1973, air pollution from combustion processes has caused serious damage and danger to the forests, monuments, human health as has been documented by official studies and yearly statistics. It has been recently realized that solar energy can have a beneficial impact on the following essential technical, environmental, and political issues of the world like major environmental problems such as acid rain, stratospheric ozone depletion, greenhouse effect and smog; environmental degradation. It can be a good way to prevent the depletion of the world's non-renewable conventional sources such as coal, oil, natural gas, and increasing energy use in developing countries.

2. The explosion of interest in artificial intelligence has drawn attention not only to the astonishing capacity of algorithms to mimic humans but to the reality that these algorithms could displace many humans in their jobs. The economic and societal consequences could be nothing short of dramatic. A key metric for tracking the consequences of technology on the economy is growth in worker productivity – defined as how much output of work an employee can generate per hour. This seemingly dry statistic matters to every working individual, because it ties directly to how much a worker can expect to earn for every hour of work. Said another way, higher productivity is expected to lead to higher wages.

Generative AI products are capable of producing written, graphic and audio content or software programs with minimal human involvement. Professions such as advertising, entertainment and creative and analytical work could be among the first to feel the effects. Individuals in those fields may worry that companies will use generative AI to do jobs they once did, but economists see great potential to boost productivity of the workforce as a whole.

3. Ozone (O₃) depletion does not cause global warming, but both of these environmental problems have a common cause: human activities that release pollutants into the atmosphere altering it. Global warming is caused primarily by putting too much carbon dioxide into the atmosphere when coal, oil, and natural gas are burned to generate electricity or to run our cars. Carbon dioxide spreads around the planet like a blanket, and is one of the main gases responsible for the absorption of infrared radiation (felt as heat), which comprises the bulk of solar energy. Ozone depletion occurs when chlorofluorocarbons (CFCs) and halons—gases formerly found in aerosol spray cans and refrigerants—are released into the atmosphere. Ozone sits in the upper atmosphere and absorbs ultraviolet radiation, another type of solar energy that's harmful to humans, animals and plants. CFCs and halons cause chemical reactions that break down ozone molecules, reducing ozone's ultraviolet radiation-absorbing capacity.

Chapter 7- Precis Writing

1. Solar energy: a long term and safe energy solution

Climate changes across the world have been noticed due to burning of fossil fuels and other related activities. The need of the hour is to shift the focus to a renewable resource of energy especially Solar energy. The energy crisis of 1973 has caused serious damage to flora and fauna, buildings and human health. In view of this, solar energy comes to be a wise choice and can be a good solution for environmental issues like acid rain, ozone layer depletion, greenhouse effect, smog etc. Using solar energy can also be a solution to prevent depletion of non-renewable resources of energy.

2. Does AI pose a danger to workforce?

The boom of artificial intelligence has created a speculation on the demand for workers/humans in job. AI and its effect on society and economy can be evaluated on the basis of the productivity of a labour per hour; that eventually decides the wages. Although a lot of advertisement, entertainment and content development work is done by AI, economists feel that there can be still scope for human intervention to boost productivity.

3. Major factors for Ozone depletion

The main cause of ozone layer depletion and global warming is human activities interfering with the atmosphere. Global warming is caused by putting too much carbon dioxide into the atmosphere when coal, oil and natural gases are burned to generate electricity and run cars. The release of carbon dioxide into the atmosphere leads to the absorption of infra-red rays into the earth and hence high temperature felt as heat. Chlorofluorocarbons and halons are the main two ingredients that lead to ozone depletion thus reducing the ultra violet rays that protect the earth's atmosphere.

1. Dear employees,
Greetings!

This is with respect to the car parking rules of our organization. Since we share the building with three other corporate firms, the number of slots available to our employees is 45 (total divided by 3). This parking is in the basement and is free of cost, on first cum first basis.

Due to the limited number of parking slots, we are unable to accommodate the vehicles of all the employees in basement.

A provision has been made in the nearby field to park cars who cannot get space in the basement. However, it will be on a payment basis. For convenience, there are minimal charges for parking the vehicle in the nearby field. Please carry your office identity cards to avail discount.

Looking forward to your kind cooperation.
