CASE	CASE CRUX
A member does not even have an insurable interest in the property of the company.	The leading case on this point is of Macaura v. Northern Assurance Co. Limited (1925)
Salomon v. Salomon and Co. Ltd.	Once a company has been validly constituted under the Companies Act, it becomes a legal person distinct from its members and for this purpose it is immaterial whether any member holds a large or small proportion of the shares.

Daimler co. Ltd v/s Continental tyre& Rubber co. Ltd.	It was held that a company will be regarded as having enemy character if the persons having de facto control of company are residents of enemy country or wherever they may be they are acting on instructions of enemy.
Re. Dinshaw Manekjee Petit	The assessee was receiving Huge dividend and interest income and he created three companies to reinvest the income for reducing the tax burden, the companies were having no business other than receiving investment and giving back to assessee as a pretended loan. It was held that company was not more than the assesse himself and the assesseewas held liable to pay the tax.
The Workmen Employedin Associated Rubber Industries Limited, Bhavnagar vs. The Associated Rubber Industries Ltd., Bhavnagar and another	Where it was found that the sole purpose for the formation of the company was to use it as a device to reduce the amount to be paid by way of bonus to workmen, the Supreme Court upheld the piercing of the veil to look at the real transaction
Ashbury Railway Carriage and Iron Company Limited v. Riche-(1875).	 The facts of the case are: The main objects of a company were: (a)To make, sell or lend on hire, railway carriages and wagons; (b)To carry on the business of mechanical engineers and general contractors. (c)To purchase, lease, sell and work mines. (d)To purchase and sell as merchants or agents, coal, timber, metals etc. The directors of the company entered into a contract with Riche, for financing the construction of a railway line in Belgium, and the company further ratified this act of the directors by passing a special resolution. The company however, repudiated the contract as being ultra-vires. And Riche brought an action for damages for breach of contract. His contention was that the contract was well within the meaning of the word general contractors and hence within its powers. Moreover it had been ratified by a majority of share-holders. However, it was held by the Court that the contract was null and void. It said that the terms general contractors was associated with mechanical engineers, i.e. it had to be read in connection with the company's main business. If, the term general contractor's was not so interpreted, it would authorize the making of contracts of any kind and every description.
(KotlaVenakataswarny v/s C Rammurthi)	 The Articles of a company required that all the documents and deeds of the company shall be signed by MD, the secretary and a working director of a company. A mortgage deed was signed by secretary and a working director only. It was held that the mortgage deed was invalid even though the plaintiff had acted in good faith and money was utilised for benefit of the company.
(Royal British Bank v/s Turquand)	The articles of a company stated that the directors could borrow

- money on behalf of a company, if they are authorized by a resolution passed by the shareholders in GM.
- The directors borrowed money from T without being authorized by shareholders.
- T lent money assuming that shareholders had authorized the directors.
- It was held that borrowing of money without any authorization was internal irregularity and since T had no Knowledge of such irregularity he was not bound.
